Rep. Marilyn Musgrave goes online to answer queries in 'town hall' forum

WASHINGTON — Rep. Marilyn Musgrave, R-Colo., will open up her own "town hall" today — online.

The 4th District congresswoman will be the first member of the Colorado congressional delegation to use her Web site to host an open forum.

She will answer questions online at <http://musgrave.house.gov/Town> from 2 to 3 p.m. today.

According to a press release she will answer questions posed to her on a variety of topics "within minutes."

Musgrave hosts online town hall meeting

Marilyn Musgrave will host her first Online Town Hall Meeting from 2 to 3 p.m. today.

She will be available online to answer questions posed through her updated Web site at <http://Musgrave.house.gov/townhall>.

Constituents are invited to participate.

Musgrave's staff said she is the only member of the Colorado congressional delegation to utilize her Web site this way.

"Keeping in touch with the individuals who sent me to Congress is very important to me," Musgrave said in a statement.

"An online town hall meeting format will allow residents from Estes Park to Lamar to ask questions of their representative at the same time."

The congresswoman will receive the questions and respond within minutes.
